Manager commentary

» In March, the main drivers behind financial markets volatility were talks around US tariffs and their consequences on inflation and growth, as well as the push for defence spending and its consequences on fiscal policy in Europe. Most asset classes were highly volatile. Global equities fell about 5% in US dollar terms, continuing their downward trend of second half of February. Bonds fell too, as government bond yields rose in the Eurozone in particular (10yr eurozone yields were up +50bps in the first week of March, with only a small part being given back before month end).

» Against this backdrop, we made several adjustments to the portfolio. Firstly, as Eurozone yields surged, we took advantage of the opportunity and moved some of our defensive US treasury allocation towards Euro bonds, maintaining duration about unchanged but improving the diversification of our fixed income basket and increasing the underlying portfolio yield (in hedged terms). Secondly, we moved some capital from corporate bonds to low-risk equities. Whilst marginally risk additive, these equities are typically highly stable companies (like utilities, consumer staples, telecommunications, etc) that offer predictable cash flows, low share price volatility and stable earnings. This type of companies has been unloved for a while and has lagged broader equities in the AI-fuelled rally, but it best positioned to weather volatile markets and potential slowdown in economic activity that might be caused by upcoming tariffs. Also, we have added a new manager, Comgest Japan Growth, switching from Amundi Japan's passive exposure. The Comgest team is highly regarded and has for a number of years run a successful strategy based on selecting high quality, high earnings growth stocks in Japan that blends well with our existing value-oriented manager Morant Wright.
